

U. S. MARINES AND ASSAULT TROOPS STORM BEACHES OF GUAM; WAVES OF SUPPORTING FORCES POURING IN BEHIND THEM; LANDINGS CONTINUE AGAINST MODERATE OPPOSITION

Early Waves of Assault Forces Are Supported by Planes and Warships Which Hammer Enemy Defenses — Rear Admiral Connolly Directs Amphibious Operations—Softening-Up Process Began While American Forces Were Invading Nearby Saipan.

(By Joseph A. Bors, I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, July 21—The Navy announced today that U. S. Marines and assault troops have stormed the beaches of Guam and that waves of supporting forces are pouring in behind them in the long-awaited campaign to recapture that former American island from the Japanese.

In an early morning communique, Pacific Fleet headquarters said Marines and Army troops established beachheads on Guam July 20 with the support of carrier aircraft and surface units of the mighty Fifth Fleet.

"The landings on Guam are continuing against moderate ground opposition," the communique said.

Thus American fighting men returned to the Far Pacific outpost approximately two and one-half years after the Japanese seized that territory with little opposition from a small Marine garrison.

The Navy said that the early waves of assault forces were being supported by planes and warships which were hammering enemy defenses on the island, approximately 120 miles southwest of recently-captured Saipan.

The amphibious operations are being directed by Rear Admiral Richard L. Connolly. The expeditionary troops are under the command of Marine General Roy S. Geiger, commanding general of the Third Amphibious Corps.

It was on December 13, 1941, that the Navy Department issued its somber communique No. 5 which merely stated that contact had been lost with Guam either by radio or cable.

At that time the Navy conceded

FRENCH POLITICAL SITUATION DIFFICULT

Has Always Been So; Age-Old Dissensions Are Continuing

"WOULD-BE" KINGS

This is the third in a series of articles about the pretenders to thrones of European countries that once were—but no longer are—monarchies. This article pertains to the two French would-be-kings, the Comte de Paris and the Prince Louis Napoleon Bonaparte.

By John W. Jarrell

(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
LONDON, July 21—(INS)—The French political situation always has been difficult, whether the country were a monarchy or a republic. It is no less so today; not only is there dissension within the French Committee of National Liberation between the Gaullists and Grandists, but French monarchists are divided in two camps—one Bourbonist, one Bonapartist.

An ancestor of the Comte de Paris became king of the Franks in 888. The 26-year-old Comte is the pretender to the same throne, and is referred to by some of the more ardent French monarchists as King John III, of France.

For more than 1,000 years his family ruled France. The prolific Bourbons provided 39 kings of France, 17 kings of Spain, 29 of Portugal, 21 of Naples and 13 of Hungary, in addition to a quarter of emperors of the Holy Roman empire.

The Comte de Paris will settle for a crack at being the 40th king of France. Currently, he doesn't look like a particularly hot bet to wear the French crown.

Early Success At Guam Is Indicated; Landings Continue

PEARL HARBOR, July 21—(INS)—Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced today that U. S. Marines and Army assault troops landed on Guam Thursday, thus bringing to a climax almost three weeks of sustained pre-invasion attacks against the former American-held island in the Marianas.

In the first thrust aimed directly at American territory seized by the Japs after their strike at Pearl Harbor, combined U. S. forces, supported by heavy bombardment from carrier planes and surface units of the Fifth Fleet, landed on Guam island July 20, Nimitz announced.

Early success of the American assault was indicated in the words of the Nimitz communique which said that the landings were continuing against "moderate ground opposition."

The brief Nimitz communique revealed that amphibious operations against Guam are being directed by Rear Admiral Richard L. Connolly, U. S. N., and the expeditionary troops are under the command of Major General Roy S. Geiger, U. S. M. C., commanding general of the Third Amphibious Corps.

The only elaboration on the communique was provided by a Pacific Fleet headquarters spokesman who said that landings were effected in all areas according to plan.

What Makes Them That Way?

(By "The Stroller")

Several weeks ago the Borough installed a faucet at a convenient spot near where the P. R. R. overhead line crosses Route 13, so that people could fill receptacles with the excellent grade of spring water which is pumped from wells now as part of the borough's water supply system.

It was but a few days before some automobile owners began washing their cars at the spot. Then the number increased and hoses were attached to the faucet and the spot became a regular automobile laundry.

Now the Borough has been compelled to remove the threads from the faucet so that hoses cannot be attached, and thus stop the washing of cars at this spot. This will in no way interfere with residents securing their supply of drinking water at the faucet.

Axe of Nazi Vengeance Falls Without Mercy

London—The axe of Nazi vengeance fell without mercy throughout Germany today in the wake of an alleged attempt against the life of Adolf Hitler, with the enemy propaganda agencies announcing immediate execution of all suspected of complicity in the plot.

DNE broadcast that Col. Gen. Ludwig Beck identified as one of the guiding figures in the affair "is no longer alive." Announcement of Gen. Beck's execution followed a claim by Nazi propagandists that two German Army generals, assisted by adjutants, were chiefly responsible for the plotting of the assassination.

Reports flooded into London meanwhile that something in the nature of an open military revolt against Hitler's leadership was in progress, with the inevitable bloody "purge" of dissident elements following in its wake.

Hold 232 Italians As Hostages

With the Eighth Army in Italy—Fifteen Germans with sub-machine guns continued to hold 232 Italian civilians, including 70 children, as hostages in the famous San Ildo monastery while using its holy precincts for observation and mortar positions. An Italian who escaped from the monastery brought the latest information on the situation, which is identical to that which prevailed at Monte Cassino prior to the February bombing.

Russian Forces Break Into Nazi Lines

London—The German High Command said today that Russian forces have broken into Nazi lines east of Bialystok, northern anchor of Nazi defenses in Poland.

Russian attacks on the Kovno-Dvinsk road and between Dvinsk and Lake Peipus, strongly supported by tanks and planes, were said to have been repulsed. In the area of Lwow and along the upper reaches of the Bug River, the communique said, fighting continues with unabated fury.

New York—The Tokyo radio said today that progress has been made in establishing a new cabinet and a statement about the new government will be released tonight.

Civilian Defense Lists 5,560 Names for Ballots

"The canvass for names and addresses of men and women of Pennsylvania in the Armed Forces and the War Services so they can be sent ballots for the November election has been completed, with a total of 548,882 cards perfected under the direction of persons enrolled in Civilian Defense in Pennsylvania and volunteers from Veterans, Women's Clubs and other organizations who assisted in the canvass," said Doctor Ralph Cooper Hutchinson, executive director of the State Council of Defense, at Harrisburg.

In Bucks County, 5,560 names were listed, representing 5.16% of the population.

"Under authority of Act No. 4 of the May Special Session of the General Assembly and by direction of Governor Edward Martin, chairman of the State Council of Defense, thousands of people enrolled in Civilian Defense were called upon to make the canvass. It is not known exactly how many men and women gave up their time to this work but it is estimated at 100,000. They did it as volunteers and accomplished a canvass never approached in State history."

"This total represents about six percent of the population of Pennsylvania, taking nine million six hundred thousand shown by the census of 1940 as a basis. It means Civilian Defense secured personal data on that many men and women eligible to vote."

WIFE OVERJOYED; INFORMED 'HUBBY' ALIVE AND WELL

Pfc. Edward W. Ellison, Croydon, is War Prisoner, It is Learned

WORKING ON A FARM

Broadcasts On Radio, Then Sends Message On A Card

CROYDON, July 21—News that her husband, PFC Edward W. Ellison, 20, is alive and well brought joy to the heart of Ruth Shire Ellison, of Second and Miller avenues, after five months of fearful and watchful waiting, and during which time the soldier was practically given up for lost.

It was on February 4th that Ellison was listed as missing in action, it being some time later that his wife was so informed. No more messages came, and each time the postman called there was disappointment, and Mrs. Ellison tried to keep busy with her war job and keep her mind on her work and on little "Eddie," the Ellisons' 17-month-old son.

Then on June 19th came a ray of hope. People in many states, including California, New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, heard a short wave broadcast from Germany, and cards and letters commenced flowing to the Ellison home here. The individuals, anxious to ease the mind of Mrs. Ellison, told of hearing her husband speak on the radio. And from the office of the acting provost marshal general in Washington, D. C., came the following message dated June 21st:

"Unofficial short wave broadcast from Germany intercepted. "Dearest Ruth: I'm prisoner in German captivity. In good health. Still haven't heard from you. Hope all is well. Tell the folks I said 'Hello.' Sending my love to you and Eddie. Closing with love and kisses. Your loving husband, Eddie."

"Pending further confirmation this report does not establish his status to be a prisoner of war. Any additional information received will be furnished."

Then on July 8th the Adjutant General wrote from Washington and confirmed information that Ellison is a prisoner of war.

And just recently the following card was received by Mrs. Ellison from PFC Ellison, it being dated in Germany, April 17, 1944:

"Dear Ruth: How is everything at home? O. K. I hope. You can now write to me. Give mother my address. Give all my love. How is Eddie? Send pictures of all. Am now working on a farm. Write to the mill and tell them I am prisoner. I am doing O. K. In best of health. Closing with love and kisses. Your loving husband, Eddie."

Ed, and Eddie's Daddy." Ellison, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Ellison, of Eddington, has been in the army since March 9, 1943. He went overseas last October 3rd, going first to North Africa, thence to Sicily and Italy. He was taken prisoner in Italy. He is a member of the infantry.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Morris and family, Fleetwing Road, have returned from a vacation spent in Seaside, N. J.

WHAT OUR BOYS ARE DOING TO WIN THE WAR

Cpl. Michael C. Angelo, gunner, of Bristol, Pa., will soon complete an intensive course in combat flying at the Alexandria Army Air Field, Alexandria, La., and in the near future he will go overseas to a combat area.

He is the member of a Flying Fortress crew trained by the Second Army Air Force, which has the task of readying four-engine bomber crews for overseas duty.

Listed among the instructors at the Alexandria Army Air Field are many officers and enlisted men who have seen action in every theatre of war. These veterans direct crews through training conditions that simulate actual combat, stressing teamwork, formation flying and high altitude missions.

Cpl. Angelo is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Angelo, 408 Dorrance street, Bristol. He is a graduate of Thomas Jefferson High School of Elizabeth, N. J., class of 1937.

Cpl. Angelo spent nine months in the signal corps before volunteering for gunnery school.

ROBOT BOMB'S FUTURE

It would be pleasant to assume that the Nazis are lying in broadcasting threats regarding the future use and development of the robot bomb, but there are all too many indications that much of what they are saying will prove true. Recently a German broadcaster said that "London and southern England so far have felt only the first tremors of the long-range battle," adding that plans have been worked out for the attack of individual target areas, taking into account their wartime importance and the weight of bombs dropped by Allied planes on individual German towns.

It develops that the robot bombs are not equipped with any rocket apparatus as was originally believed in this country. The British aircraft journal, Flight, asserts that the robots are driven by the first practical application of an entirely new form of repulse reaction engine, using air and gasoline. Aviation experts who discussed the article are quoted as asserting with reluctant respect that "the Germans have made a motor out of a chimney pipe." While this concededly was an exaggeration, it indicates the simplicity of the device.

New York aviation authorities are quoted as saying that there appears every possibility that the size of the robot bombs can be increased. The present bombs weigh one ton and gasoline consumption is estimated to be approximately a gallon a minute, which limits their range to 150 miles. It has been said that the future use of the bombs by Germany will depend to some extent on the manpower requisite for their construction as compared with planes.

SHOE SHORTAGE

Members of the Combined Raw Materials Board, an agency which allocates essential raw materials among the United States, Britain and Canada, predict that it will be two years after the defeat of Germany before the rationing of leather shoes can be lifted. The War Production Board concurs in this view.

This prediction is based on the fact that world hide stocks are at an all-time low and on the prospect that the United States may be called upon to send hides and shoes to Europe for many months.

Military need for shoes this year will reach 55,000,000 pairs, of which 15,000,000 pairs will be used for relief distribution in Europe. Lend-lease commitments call for substantial shipments of shoes to Britain and Russia. The United States relief agency could use 25,000,000 pairs for additional relief distribution.

Civilians in the United States, under rationing, get approximately 300,000,000 pairs of shoes a year. These combined demands total more shoes than the United States could produce if it had the leather, and the nation does not have the leather.

The final solution may be substitute materials for relief shoes, with Europeans getting ersatz tops and wooden soles.

French Political Situation Difficult

He succeeded to the job of president in 1940 when his father, the duc de Guise, who had worked at it a long time, died in Spanish Morocco.

The comte, however, even back in 1939 was quoted as saying he already has his cabinet list ready, a group that he reported included several members of the then existing government. At that time he indicated that he entertained only a dim view of political parties per se, which he termed "useless except for their leaders." He did, however, declare that if his candidacy were successful, liberties "of thought, writing and teaching" would be maintained.

Actually his is the Bourbon-Orleans family. The current pretender's father became France's Bourbon pretender in 1926 on the death of the duc d'Orleans, and maintained the tradition until his death, when the young comte took over. He has spent most of his life in Belgium, where he achieved a reputation for keenness and intelligence. But not too many of the people who saw him believed he would ever become king of France.

When the war began, he offered his services to France, from which he was barred, and when refused, offered to join the British forces.

Shortly after the Allied landings in North Africa late in 1942, he succeeded in escaping to Algiers.

The last Bourbon king was Louis Philippe, great-grandfather of the comte, who is ready and willing to become John III if summoned.

The Napoleonic pretender now is 30 years old, and the dark horse candidate for the French throne, last occupied by his uncle, Louis Napoleon, as Napoleon III.

His ancestor, through whom

Prince Louis Napoleon Bonaparte bases his claim, was Jerome, king of Westphalia and Napoleon's favorite brother. Not allowed in France, the prince lived in Brussels and in 1942 was arrested by the Germans while trying to reach North Africa.

Over six feet tall, he has thick brown hair, a firm mouth and chin, and definite ideas. Once it was suggested that he and the Bourbon pretender form a political liaison to unite the monarchist groups of France. He stoutly refused.

He studied at Lausanne University, is a flier and a top-flight skier.

If he should—by some remote coup—become emperor of France, he probably would be Napoleon VII, even though Louis Napoleon, the last reigning monarch, was Napoleon III. That is based on the belief that in any restoration, the son of Napoleon III, killed by Zulus in Africa while serving with the British army, would posthumously be named Napoleon IV.; his cousin, Prince Pon-Plon, would be Napoleon V, and his late father, Napoleon VI.

capture of the island and reported that the defending force consisted of less than 400 naval personnel and 155 Marines.

The landings on Guam have been anticipated ever since powerful American forces invaded the nearby Japanese island of Saipan and captured that important base.

gan softening up the defense of Guam in preparation for the current landings.

The statement in the communique that "moderate ground opposition" is being encountered indicated that Japanese defense forces suffered heavy casualties in the pre-invasion shelling and bombing assaults.

Anticipated capture of Guam will give the United States another important springboard for further moves toward the Philippines and Japan, each of which are approximately 1,400 miles beyond the Marianas.

Here and There In Bucks County Towns

The splints are a new development in the medical field, and are made of metal.

The Perkasio plant had been turning out about 1,000 splints a month. After its closing, all the splints will be manufactured at York.

Miss Orpha Leatherman, formerly of Perkasio, was graduated last month from the Mennonite Hospital School of Nursing, La Junta, Colo.

Miss Leatherman came east the past week to attend the funeral of her father, Jacob Leatherman, and has again returned to La Junta.

The meeting of the Middle Bucks Senior Extension Club was held this week at the Plumsteadville Grange hall with 30 members attending.

During a brief business meeting, which was in charge of the president, the by-laws were approved, and Mrs. Mary Jacoby Fleetham, the county extension leader, gave hints and suggestions on the future activities of the club.

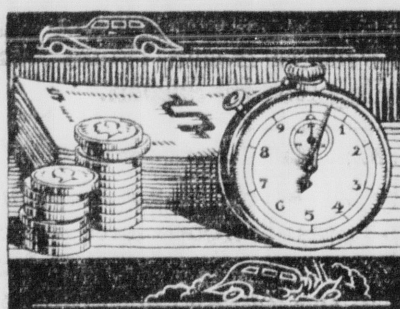

Square dancing was the highlight of the social portion of the evening.

With a scar on his left arm as evidence of his active service in Africa and Italy, Cpl. Joseph Horning is spending a week at his home in Perkasio.

Cpl. Horning was overseas for two years, and arrived in this country the forepart of the month. He arrived at the home of his father, Joseph Horning, 18 South Eighth street, Perkasio, on Saturday evening.

Horning was injured in December, 1942, in Africa, returned to action and was wounded again the following May.

When he leaves home at the end of the week, he will report to the Forty-fifth General Hospital, New York, where he has been since his return from Italy. Horning expects to be sent to North Carolina for reclassification.

Linoleum Floors

Dear Mrs. Home Maker:

GOOD linoleum, properly installed, is not just a floor covering—it can be a practically permanent floor. But you must insist on quality. And you'll find it pays, too, to go to real flooring specialists.

For example—here's how we assure complete satisfaction. We feature famous-quality Armstrong's Linoleum. You have a wide choice of the newest designs and colors. Our salesmen are especially trained to assist you. And all linoleum is installed the right way—double-cemented to the floor over lining felt. Custom-floor work is a specialty.

The next time you buy linoleum, let us advise you on your floor problems and provide a free estimate.

AMERICAN STEEL NINE TO OPPOSE FLEETWINGS HERE

Trenton Team and Airplane
Builders To Meet On High School Field

VOLTZ AT TRENTON

Gasoline Men Will Oppose
The Strong Prison Officers
On Wetzel's Field

The second-place American Steel team, of the Trenton Industrial League, will play Fleetwings this evening on the Bristol high school field. The Voltz-Texaco team will play the Prison Officers on Wetzel's field, Trenton. The game in Bristol will begin at 6:15 o'clock.

It is most likely that Lonnie Weisler will pitch for the Arrows with Calderone behind the plate. The Wingers still have an opportunity of finishing in second place. Rain last evening caused the postponement of the Bristol Suburban League games. At Trenton, John H. Haas and Eastern Aircraft were in a 2-2 deadlock when the downpour came. Paul Cervellero was pitching for the chemical mixers, with Ed Warwick doing the work for the Aircrafters.

Sportsmen's Briefs

BY JOE ELBERSON

Big fish . . . Ollie Hobbs, Cleveland street, fishing with a party of friends on Wednesday, landed what is believed to be a season's record-cracker when he successfully brought to gaff a 65-pound black drum fish while fishing the oyster beds out of Fortescue.

Hobbs was fishing with a light bay rod and was rigged for weakies when the drum struck. It took 40 minutes to tire the big fellow down. Included in the party were Edward DeKoyler, Owen Evans, Herman Hustran and Harry Evans. In addition to the drum, the men caught 50 weakfish.

Salt water fishing . . . from all reports, salt water fishing is still rather shifty.

Catches are being made at all points along the Jersey coast, but they are relatively small.

A party of six local anglers, Charles Elliott, Raymond Karp, E. L. Scott, Oscar Herrmann, Tony Daniels and Zeno Karp, fished Barnegat Bay off Beach Haven last Sunday.

After eight hours of fishing, the six men had 2 croakers, 3 weakies, 2 kings, 3 spots, and 50 of those most annoying blowfish. Elliott caught the first fish and Scott the largest.

Going down . . . the water level in the Canal is going down. It is a foot lower than when bass season opened. And it has made fishing here more difficult because of the bottom growth appearing on the surface. Not many being taken at present. Now would be a good time for the crew of maintenance men, who are going to clean up the Canal in this section, to arrive on the job.

Silver Lake hasn't produced very many bass this season, although several have been reported landed in the last week.

Sailboat race . . . The Greater Wildwood Yacht Club will hold its 7th Annual Sail Boat Regatta on Saturday and Sunday, August 12 and 13. To yachtsmen and visitors who love this great water sport this is one of the most important events of the yachting season.

The Regatta is under the auspices of the South Jersey Yacht Racing Association. First race is scheduled for 10 a. m. Saturday the 12th, and the first Sunday race will get under way at 10:30 a. m.

Although many members of this and other sailing clubs are in the armed services, there will be a number of the up and coming younger generation who are really experts when it comes to handling Comets and Moths.

Examination . . . The Pennsylvania Game Commission today announced that persons desiring to practice taxidermy will be given an opportunity to take the required examination on September 13th.

The Game Code requires that the applicants be citizens of the United States, 21 or more years of age, and prove competency to engage in the practice of taxidermy. Applications may be secured by addressing the Commission in Harrisburg.

Emblems . . . Bristol Fish & Game Association members are sporting new emblems on their jackets and coats these days. The emblems, made of cloth, are in blue and gold, and keystone-shaped. Appropriately inscribed and illustrated, they present a very fine appearance. They may be secured through officers of the Association.

U. S. MARINES AND ASSAULT TROOPS STORM BEACHES OF GUAM; WAVES OF SUPPORTING FORCES POURING IN BEHIND THEM; LANDINGS CONTINUE AGAINST MODERATE OPPOSITION

Early Waves of Assault Forces Are Supported by Planes and Warships Which Hammer Enemy Defenses — Rear Admiral Connolly Directs Amphibious Operations—Softening-Up Process Began While American Forces Were Invading Nearby Saipan.

(By Joseph A. Bors, I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, July 21—The Navy announced today that U. S. Marines and assault troops have stormed the beaches of Guam and that waves of supporting forces are pouring in behind them in the long-awaited campaign to recapture that former American island from the Japanese.

In an early morning communique, Pacific Fleet headquarters said Marines and Army troops established beachheads on Guam July 20 with the support of carrier aircraft and surface units of the mighty Fifth Fleet.

"The landings on Guam are continuing against moderate ground opposition," the communique said.

Thus American fighting men returned to the Far Pacific outpost approximately two and one-half years after the Japanese seized that territory with little opposition from a small Marine garrison.

The Navy said that the early waves of assault forces were being supported by planes and warships which were hammering enemy defenses on the island, approximately 120 miles southwest of recently-captured Saipan.

The amphibious operations are being directed by Rear Admiral Richard L. Connolly. The expeditionary troops are under the command of Marine General Roy S. Geiger, commanding general of the Third Amphibious Corps.

It was on December 13, 1941, that the Navy Department issued its somber communique No. 5 which merely stated that contact had been lost with Guam either by radio or cable.

At that time the Navy conceded

ROOSEVELT ACCEPTS NOMINATION OF PARTY

Acceptance Speech Radioed From Train at Undisclosed Location

A SOUTHERN REVOLT

By William K. Hutchinson
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, July 21—(INS)—President Roosevelt was his party's official fourth term nominee today as a strife-ridden Democratic convention sought to choose his running-mate from a field of sixteen possibilities, headed by Vice-President Henry A. Wallace and Senator Harry S. Truman, of Missouri.

An International News Service poll of delegates showed Wallace leading with 454 pledged votes to 293 1/2 for Truman. Overnight, Wallace lost 85 votes to Truman and new "favorite son" candidates, with the Missourian gaining 35 delegates.

Senator Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky, who placed Mr. Roosevelt's name in nomination, was in third place with 111 votes. Barkley was in a choice spot as a "compromise" nominee. In event neither Wallace nor Truman can break their present deadlock once the balloting starts.

The remaining 317 1/2 votes were scattered among "favorite sons"—thirteen in all—most of whom hope that the deadlock will be prolonged until they can win the nomination.

Choice of a vice presidential nominee was the final business before the convention, convening at noon.

President Roosevelt promptly accepted his fourth term renomination. His speech, broadcast from a railroad train in a "Pacific coast naval station," highlighted last night's session.

Mr. Roosevelt won renomination easily. The vote was 1086 for the President, 89 for Senator Harry Flood Byrd, of Virginia—coming largely from southern states—and one for former Democratic National Chairman James A. Farley, of New York.

The President pledged his administration, first to winning the war, then to using the armed forces of sovereign nations to preserve future peace and finally to insure employment and decent standards of living to all Americans in the post-war era but especially to returning veterans.

The 1944 Democratic platform paraphrased the President's acceptance speech but included a plank, promising racial equality, that aroused terrific resentment in southern delegations. Three southern delegations—Tennessee, Mississippi and South Carolina—were so enraged, they voted against the platform.

The southern revolt was enriched by action of the convention in splitting the vote of Texas between the "regular" and the "New Deal" delegations. Both were seated. It caused E. B. Germany, spokesman for the "regulars" to assert:

"This means that the 23 Texas electoral votes cannot go to President Roosevelt. These electors are morally bound to vote for some other Democrat in the electoral college."

The Vice Presidential race, however, overshadowed both the southern revolt and dissension over the platform.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Gill, Cedar street, enjoyed a stay in Atlantic City, N. J., from Friday until Sunday.

Early Success At Guam is Indicated; Landings Continue

PEARL HARBOR, July 21—(INS)—Admiral Chester W. Nimitz announced today that U. S. Marines and Army assault troops landed on Guam Thursday, thus bringing to a climax almost three weeks of sustained pre-invasion attacks against the former American-held island in the Marianas.

In the first thrust aimed directly at American territory seized by the Japs after their strike at Pearl Harbor, combined U. S. forces, supported by heavy bombardment from carrier planes and surface units of the Fifth Fleet, landed on Guam island July 20, Nimitz announced.

Early success of the American assault was indicated in the words of the Nimitz communique which said that the landings were continuing against "moderate ground opposition."

The brief Nimitz communique revealed that amphibious operations against Guam are being directed by Rear Admiral Richard L. Connolly, U. S. N., and the expeditionary troops are under the command of Major General Roy S. Geiger, U. S. M. C., commanding general of the Third Amphibious Corps.

The only elaboration on the communique was provided by a Pacific Fleet headquarters spokesman who said that landings were effected in all areas according to plan.

What Makes Them That Way?

(By "The Stroller")

Several weeks ago the Borough installed a faucet at a convenient spot near where the P. R. R. overhead line crosses Route 13, so that people could fill receptacles with the excellent grade of spring water which is pumped from wells now as part of the borough's water supply system.

It was but a few days before some automobile owners began washing their cars at the spot. Then the number increased and hoses were attached to the faucet and the spot became a regular automobile laundry.

Now the Borough has been compelled to remove the threads from the faucet so that hoses cannot be attached, and thus stop the washing of cars at this spot. This will in no way interfere with residents securing their supply of drinking water at the faucet.

FRENCH POLITICAL SITUATION DIFFICULT

Has Always Been So; Age-Old Dissensions Are Continuing

"WOULD-BE" KINGS

This is the third in a series of articles about the pretenders to thrones of European countries that once were—but no longer are—monarchies. This article pertains to the two French would-be-kings, the Comte de Paris and the Prince Louis Napoleon Bonaparte.

By John W. Jarrell
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent

LONDON, July 21—(INS)—The French political situation always has been difficult, whether the country were a monarchy or a republic. It is no less so today; not only is there dissension within the French Committee of National Liberation between De Gaulle and Giraudists, but French monarchists are divided in two camps—one Bourbonist, one Bonapartist.

An ancestor of the Comte de Paris became king of the Franks in 888. The 26-year-old comte is the pretender to the same throne, and is referred to by some of the more ardent French monarchists as King John III, of France.

For more than 1,000 years his family ruled France. The prolific Bourbons provided 39 kings of France, 17 kings of Spain, 29 of Portugal, 21 of Naples and 13 of Hungary, in addition to a quarter of emperors of the Holy Roman empire.

The Comte de Paris will settle for a crack at being the 40th king of France. Currently, he doesn't look like a particularly hot bet to wear the French crown.

Civilian Defense Lists 5,560 Names for Ballots

"The canvass for names and addresses of men and women of Pennsylvania in the Armed Forces and the War Services so they can be sent ballots for the November election has been completed, with a total of 548,882 cards perfected under the direction of persons enrolled in Civilian Defense in Pennsylvania and volunteers from Veterans, Women's Clubs and other organizations who assisted in the canvass," said Doctor Ralph Cooper Hutchinson, executive director of the State Council of Defense, at Harrisburg.

In Bucks County, 5,560 names were listed, representing 5.16% of the population.

"Under authority of Act No. 4 of the May Special Session of the General Assembly and by direction of Governor Edward Martin, chairman of the State Council of Defense, thousands of people enrolled in Civilian Defense were called upon to make the canvass. It is not known exactly how many men and women gave up their time to this work but it is estimated at 100,000. They did it as volunteers and accomplished a canvass never approached in State history."

"This total represents about six percent of the population of Pennsylvania, taking nine million six hundred thousand shown by the census of 1940 as a basis. It means Civilian Defense secured personal data on that many men and women eligible to vote."

WIFE OVERJOYED; INFORMED 'HUBBY' ALIVE AND WELL

Pfc. Edward W. Ellison, Croydon, is War Prisoner, It is Learned

WORKING ON A FARM Broadcasts On Radio, Then Sends Message On A Card

CROYDON, July 21—News that her husband, PFC Edward W. Ellison, 20, is alive and well brought joy to the heart of Ruth Shire Ellison, of Second and Miller avenues, after five months of fearful and watchful waiting, and during which time the soldier was practically given up for lost.

It was on February 4th that Ellison was listed as missing in action, it being some time later that his wife was so informed. No more messages came, and each time the postman called there was disappointment, and Mrs. Ellison tried to keep busy with her war job and keep her mind on her work and on little "Eddie," the Ellisons' 17-month-old son.

Then on June 19th came a ray of hope. People in many states, including California, New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, heard a short wave broadcast from Germany, and cards and letters commenced flowing to the Ellison home here. The individuals, anxious to ease the mind of Mrs. Ellison, told of hearing her husband speak on the radio. And from the office of the acting provost marshal general in Washington, D. C., came the following message dated June 21st:

"Unofficial short wave broadcast from Germany intercepted."

"Dearest Ruth: I'm prisoner in German captivity. In good health. Still haven't heard from you. Hope all is well. Tell the folks I said 'Hello.' Sending my love to you and Eddie. Closing with love and kisses. Your loving husband, Eddie."

"Pending further confirmation this report does not establish his status to be a prisoner of war. Any additional information received will be furnished."

Then on July 8th the Adjutant General wrote from Washington and confirmed information that Ellison is a prisoner of war.

And just recently the following card was received by Mrs. Ellison from PFC Ellison, it being dated in Germany, April 17, 1944:

"Dear Ruth: How is everything at home? O. K. I hope. You can now write to me. Give mother my address. Give all my love. How is Eddie? Send pictures of all. Am now working on a farm. Write to the mill and tell them I am prisoner. I am doing O. K. In best of health. Closing with love and kisses. Your loving husband, Eddie."

Ellison, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Ellison, of Edgerton, has been in the army since March 9, 1943. He went overseas last October 3rd, going first to North Africa, thence to Sicily and Italy. He was taken prisoner in Italy. He is a member of the infantry.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Morris and family, Fleetwing Road, have returned from a vacation spent in Seaside, N. J.

Listed among the instructors at the Alexandria Army Air Field are many officers and enlisted men who have seen action in every theatre of war. These veterans direct crews through training conditions that simulate actual combat, stressing teamwork, formation flying and high altitude missions.

Cpl. Angelo is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Angelo, 408 Dorrance street, Bristol. He is a graduate of Thomas Jefferson High School of Elizabeth, N. J., class of 1937.

Cpl. Angelo spent nine months in the signal corps before volunteering for gunnery school.

ROBOT BOMB'S FUTURE

It would be pleasant to assume that the Nazis are lying in broad-casting threats regarding the future use and development of the robot bomb, but there are all too many indications that much of what they are saying will prove true. Recently a German broadcaster said that "London and southern England so far have felt only the first tremors of the long-range battle," adding that plans have been worked out for the attack of individual target areas, taking into account their wartime importance and the weight of bombs dropped by Allied planes on individual German towns.

It develops that the robot bombs are not equipped with any rocket apparatus as was originally believed in this country. The British aircraft journal, Flight, asserts that the robots are driven by the first practical application of an entirely new form of repulse reaction engine, using air and gasoline. Aviation experts who discussed the article are quoted as asserting with reluctant respect that "the Germans have made a motor out of a chimney pipe." While this concededly was an exaggeration, it indicates the simplicity of the device.

New York aviation authorities are quoted as saying that there appears every possibility that the size of the robot bombs can be increased. The present bombs weigh one ton and gasoline consumption is estimated to be approximately a gallon a minute, which limits their range to 150 miles. It has been said that the future use of the bombs by Germany will depend to some extent on the manpower requisite for their construction as compared with planes.

SHOE SHORTAGE

Members of the Combined Raw Materials Board, an agency which allocates essential raw materials among the United States, Britain and Canada, predict that it will be two years after the defeat of Germany before the rationing of leather shoes can be lifted. The War Production Board concurs in this view.

This prediction is based on the fact that world wide stocks are at an all-time low and on the prospect that the United States may be called upon to send hides and shoes to Europe for many months.

Military need for shoes this year will reach 55,000,000 pairs, of which 15,000,000 pairs will be used for relief distribution in Europe. Lend-lease commitments call for substantial shipments of shoes to Britain and Russia. The United States relief agency could use 25,000,000 pairs for additional relief distribution.

Civilians in the United States, under rationing, get approximately 300,000,000 pairs of shoes a year. These combined demands total more shoes than the United States could produce if it had the leather, and the nation does not have the leather.

The final solution may be substitute materials for relief shoes, with Europeans getting ersatz tops and wooden soles.

The 50 pints were allotted, and a plea went out for replenishment of the hospital blood bank. Co-workers of the younger Mr. Maule were glad to give, and the remaining 20 pints were secured from friends and acquaintances elsewhere.

The donations commenced about three weeks ago, the blood bank being replenished at the hospital on certain days of the week. The donors from the local plant com-

French Political Situation Difficult

He succeeded to the job of pretender in 1940 when his father, the duc de Guise, who had worked at it a long time, died in Spanish Morocco.

The comte, however, even back in 1939 was quoted as saying he already has his cabinet list ready, a group that he reported included several members of the then existing government. At that time he indicated that he entertained only a dim view of political parties per se, which he termed "useless except for their leaders." He did, however, declare that if his candidacy were successful, liberties "of thought, writing and teaching" would be maintained.

Actually his is the Bourbon-Orleans family. The current pretender's father became France's Bourbon pretender in 1926 on the death of the duc d'Orleans, and maintained the tradition until his death, when the young comte took over. He has spent most of his life in Belgium, where he achieved a reputation for keenness and intelligence. But not too many of the people who saw him believed he would ever become king of France.

When the war began, he offered his services to France, from which he was barred, and when refused, offered to join the British forces. Shortly after the Allied landings in North Africa late in 1942, he succeeded in escaping to Algiers.

The last Bourbon king was Louis Philippe, great-grandfather of the comte, who is ready and willing to become John III, if summoned.

The Napoleonic pretender now is 30 years old, and the dark horse candidate for the French throne, last occupied by his uncle, Louis Napoleon, as Napoleon III.

His ancestor, through whom

Prince Louis Napoleon Bonaparte bases his claim, was Jerome, king of Westphalia and Napoleon's favorite brother. Not allowed in France, the prince lived in Brussels and in 1942 was arrested by the Germans while trying to reach North Africa.

Over six feet tall, he has thick brown hair, a firm mouth and chin, and definite ideas. Once it was suggested that he and the Bourbon pretender form a political liaison to unite the monarchist groups of France. He stoutly refused.

He studied at Lausanne University, is a flier and a top-flight skier.

If he should—by some remote coup—become emperor of France, he probably would be Napoleon VII, even though Louis Napoleon, the last reigning monarch, was Napoleon III. That is based on the belief that in any restoration, the son of Napoleon III, killed by Zouf in Africa while serving with the British army, would posthumously be named Napoleon IV; his cousin, Prince Pon-Pon, would be Napoleon V, and his late father, Napoleon VI.

It is a very large if.

U. S. Marines and Assault Troops Storm Guam

Capture of the island and reported that the defending force consisted of less than 400 naval personnel and 155 Marines.

The landings on Guam have been anticipated ever since powerful American forces invaded the nearby Japanese island of Saipan and captured that important base.

Even while fighting was still under way on Saipan, American carrier planes and supporting battleships, cruisers and destroyers began softening up the defense of Guam in preparation for the current landings.

The statement in the communiqué that "moderate ground opposition" is being encountered indicated that Japanese defense forces suffered heavy casualties in the pre-invasion shelling and bombing assaults.

Anticipated capture of Guam will give the United States another important springboard for further moves toward the Philippines and Japan, each of which are approximately 1,400 miles beyond the Marianas.

Square dancing was the highlight of the social portion of the evening.

During a brief business meeting, which was in charge of the president, the by-laws were approved, and Mrs. Mary Jacoby Fleetham, the county extension leader, gave hints and suggestions on the future activities of the club.

The splints are a new development in the medical field, and are made of metal.

The Perkase plant had been turning out about 1,000 splints a month. After its closing, all the splints will be manufactured at York.

Miss Leatherman came east the past week to attend the funeral of her father, Jacob Leatherman, and has again returned to La Junta.

Cpl. Horning was overseas for two years, and arrived in this country the forepart of the month. He arrived at the home of his father, Joseph Horning, 18 South Eighth street, Perkase, on Saturday evening.

Horning was injured in December, 1942, in Africa, returned to action and was wounded again the following May.

When he leaves home at the end of the week, he will report to the Forty-fifth General Hospital, New York, where he has been since his return from Italy. Horning expects to be sent to North Carolina for reclassification.

VOLTZ AT TRENTON

Gasoline Men Will Oppose
The Strong Prison Officers
On Wetzel's Field

The second-place American Steel team, of the Trenton Industrial League, will play Fleetwings this evening on the Bristol high school field. The Voltz-Texaco team will play the Prison Officers on Wetzel's field, Trenton. The game in Bristol will begin at 6:15 o'clock.

It is most likely that Lonnie Hessler will pitch for the Arrows with Calderone behind the plate. The Wings still have an opportunity of finishing in second place. Last evening caused the postponement of the Bristol Suburban League games. At Trenton, John & Haas and Eastern Aircraft were in a 2-2 deadlock when the downpour came. Paul Corveller was pitching for the chemical mixers, with Ed Warwick doing the work for the Aircrafters.

Sportsmen's Briefs

BY JOE ELBERSON

Big fish . . . Ollie Hobbs, Cleveland street, fishing with a party of friends on Wednesday, landed what is believed to be a season's record-breaker when he successfully brought to gaff a 65-pound black drum fish while fishing the oyster beds out of Portesque.

Hobbs was fishing with a light bay rod and was rigged for weakies when the drum struck. It took 40 minutes to tire the big fellow down. Included in the party were Edward DeKoye, Owen Evans, Herman Bustran and Harry Evans. In addition to the drum, the men caught 50 weakfish.

Salt water fishing . . . from all reports, salt water fishing is still rather snotty.

Catches are being made at all points along the Jersey coast, but they are relatively small.

A party of six local anglers, Charles Elliott, Raymond Karp, E. E. Scott, Oscar Herrmann, Tony Daniels and Zeno Karp, fished Barnegat Bay off Beach Haven last Sunday.

After eight hours of fishing, the six men had 2 croakers, 3 weakies, 2 kings, 3 spots, and 50 of those most annoying blowfish. Elliott caught the first fish and Scott the largest.

Going down . . . the water level in the Canal is going down. It is a foot lower than when bass season opened. And it has made fishing here more difficult because of the bottom growth appearing on the surface. Not many being taken at present. Now would be a good time for the crew of maintenance men, who are going to clean up the Canal in this section, to arrive on the job.

Silver Lake hasn't produced very many bass this season, although several have been reported landed in the last week.

Sailboat race . . . The Greater Wildwood Yacht Club will hold its 7th Annual Sail Boat Regatta on Saturday and Sunday, August 12 and 13. To yachtsmen and visitors who love this great water sport this is one of the most important events of the yachting season.

The Regatta is under the auspices of the South Jersey Yacht Racing Association. First race is scheduled for 10 a. m. Saturday the 12th, and the first Sunday race will get under way at 10:30 a. m.

Although many members of this and other sailing clubs are in the armed services, there will be a number of the up and coming younger generation who are really experts when it comes to handling Comets and Moths.

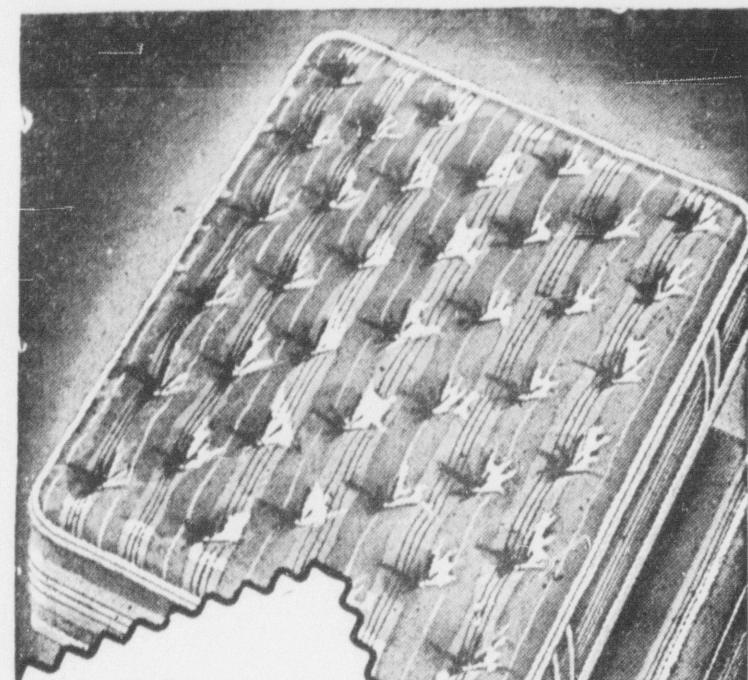

Examination . . . The Pennsylvania Game Commission today announced that persons desiring to practice taxidermy will be given an opportunity to take the required examination on September 13th.

The Game Code requires that the applicants be citizens of the United States, 21 or more years of age, and prove competency to engage in the practice of taxidermy. Applications may be secured by addressing the Commission in Harrisburg.

Emblems . . . Bristol Fish & Game Association members are sporting new emblems on their jackets and coats these days. The emblems, made of cloth, are in blue and gold, and keystone-shaped. Appropriately inscribed and illustrated, they present a very fine appearance. They may be secured through officers of the Association.
